President Sees Knowland And Martin In P.O. Office Today

President Eisenhower reviewed the legislative program for the last year of his first term today with GOP congressional leaders, Senator Knowland of California and House leader Martin of Massachusetts. Knowland had an appointment with Eisenhower at 11 a.m., an hour and a half after the President's meeting with Martin.

The Chief Executive might also be urged by Knowland to announce his intentions for 1956 so that other candidates might prepare a campaign in case he doesn't run again. Best indications are, however, that the President will defer any announcement on his candidacy until after his final comprehensive physical check in January. Earlier this week GOP national chairman Leonard W. Hall, following a meeting with the President on Monday, announced that he thought Eisenhower would run "if he feels he is able." Other party leaders at the GOP national committee meeting in Chicago were not so optimistic.

Main business before Eisenhower and his congressional leaders was next month's State of the Union address in which the President will present his recommendations to Congress. Health, education, and highway matters, hangers from the 1955 session, were up for consideration. The Democrats, in control of both houses, are shaping their own program which may or may not be in line with the President's plans.

Confers With Military

On Friday Eisenhower conferred with Secretary of Defense Wilson and Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, as he neared final decision on next year's military budget. Wilson and Radford narrowly missed having a serious accident on their trip to Gettysburg when the car in front of them skidded on a slick road and a second car, swerving to avoid hitting the first one, left the road and ran into a fence.

Wilson declared after Friday's session with the President that "routine subjects" were discussed in what he pointed out was a resumption of the regular Friday meetings he and Radford used to have with the President in Washington.

While at his office Friday the President dictated for a time to Mrs. Ann Whitman, his personal secretary. Among other things he dictated some material for his telephone talk Monday to the AFL-CIO merger convention in New York. The White House announced that next Thursday's National Security Council meeting at Camp David would be an all-day affair with sessions starting at 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Hagerty said the lengthy session was necessary because of the volume of business to be handled. He stressed that it was not an "emergency session."

Returns To Gettysburg

The President will return to his Gettysburg farm following adjournment of the afternoon session. He will drive back to Camp David the next day for a cabinet meeting. On December 10 Mr. Eisenhower will go to Washington, D. C., for a comprehensive medical check-up and some White House meetings with legislative leaders. He will return to Gettysburg December 13. It is undecided how long the President will remain in Gettysburg after December 13, but his present plans call for him to open the capital's Pageant of Peace exhibition with a talk from Gettysburg on December 18. He is expected to return to the White House for Christmas.

$415 DAMAGES IN CAR WRECKS

No one was injured but damage totaled $415 in two auto accidents investigated by state police Friday night.

Cars operated by J. E. Routsong, 64, Bendersville, and Florence L. Chronister, 39, Gardners R. D., collided at 5:15 o'clock at the intersection of the Biglerville-Idaville and Bendersville-Aspers Rds.

State Police said Routsong was headed east toward Aspers and the Chronister car was headed north toward Idaville when the two crashed in the intersection. Damage was $50 to the Chronister car and $15 to the Routsong sedan.

Hold Center Line

Both drivers "failed to yield one-half the highway to each other," police said after investigating an accident at 10:45 o'clock one mile west of McSherrystown on the Bonneauville Rd.

William Hagerman, 16, of 511 Third St., Hanover, was headed east and had $175 damage to his vehicle. Donald E. Cline, 17, Gettysburg R. 3, was headed west and had $175 damage to his car. Police are continuing their investigation.

In her first public appearance since her apple streusel pie won her the title of Pennsylvania's Apple Dessert Queen in October, Miss Ericka Kaseberg, Gettysburg High School senior, this week toured the Peach Glen plant of Knouse Foods to witness commercial apple processing techniques.

Accompanied by Mrs. Eleanor Griest, Flora Dale, Miss Kaseberg was a luncheon guest of the company and was conducted through the plant by Carl Westerdahl, personnel officer. Highlight of the tour was a visit to the plant's modernly equipped laboratory where Harold S. Oliver, food technologist, explained the duties of quality control and demonstrated some of the numerous features of the lab equipment.

Miss Kaseberg, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kaseberg, Gettysburg, is studying vocational home economics. She will represent the state's apple industry at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in January and will resign as apple dessert queen until next October.

LARGE CROWD PLEASSED WITH SHAW CONCERT

Robert Shaw in speaking of "popular" music said, "Its purpose is to encores: selections from Brahms' symphonies that admirably, enjoyably and often enough. It is calculatedly transient. It aims to make people forget. But there is other music which aims to make people remember. It is calculated to abide."

That is the music members of the Gettysburg Community Concert Association heard Friday evening—when they applauded conductor Robert Shaw back for five encores in Gettysburg College Christ Chapel where standing room was at a premium.

The two and one-half hour concert of sacred music by the Robert Shaw Choral Ensemble included Bach's "Magnificat in D Major" and these capacity audience. The narrator "Lieselsieder Walzer"; a spiritual, "My Soul's So Happy I Can't Sit Down"; "A Children's Game"; Mendelssohn's "He's Watching Over Israel" from "Elijah"; and "Dona Nobis Pacem" from Bach's "Mass in B Minor" to which the audience paid silent tribute until it burst into spontaneous applause.

The 30-voice choral and the concert orchestra performed in the lighted chapel chancel before a "popular" music said, "Its purpose is for 'King David' stood in the pulpit where he read the words of the 'Lord God, David, Nathan, Saul, Goliath' and others.

Gettysburgians and visiting members from neighboring communities were almost literally carried away by the feeling and the excellence with which the choral, orchestra, soloists, narrator and Robert Shaw performed. Several times after a musical work had been completed the audience sat in silence for a brief moment as if to say that their awe and feeling were too great for applause.

Shaw and each member of his group "appeared to be communicating." At no time was there a feeling that someone was performing but rather the members of Shaw's group as well as Shaw himself seemed to say "this is music we love and we thank you for letting us sing it to you."

The Robert Shaw choral and orchestra will make a three-month tour of Europe and the Near East, starting in mid-March, under the sponsorship of the American National Theater and Academy in cooperation with the State Department. The group of 50 persons is scheduled for more than 50 appearances, including concerts in ten Army installations. Countries to be visited include Egypt, Syria, Lebanon, Turkey, Greece, Yugoslavia, Spain, Portugal, England, France, Germany, the Scandinavian countries and Iceland.

The task of co-ordinating the projected tour, one of the longest and most difficult ever attempted by American organization of this size, has been delegated to Frederick C. Schang, president of Columbia Artists Management, who is also manager of the Choral's domestic tours.

12 Burn To Death And Many Injured In Train Collision

BARNES, England (AP)—A train packed with homeward bound teenagers crashed into a standing freight train in this London suburb last night and burst into a searing mass of flames. Twelve persons burned to death, and more than 50 others were injured.

Two of the dead were children. Twenty-seven of the injured were reported in serious condition today.

The electric train carrying 150 passengers from London's West End to their homes in the Thames Valley ripped into the rear of the freight train just outside Barnes Station. Barnes is eight miles west of central London.

The first coach overturned and dug a path along an embankment before stopping. The collision shorted the car's power circuit. There was a moment's silence, and then the crumpled coach exploded into flames.

The screams of the trapped and injured sounded above the roar of the fire as dazed passengers from the rear coaches sought to give aid.

Railroad workers and uninjured passengers tore at the wreckage with their bare hands. They hurried the injured they could remove to houses along the tracks.

The accident occurred below a highway bridge. Firemen fought the flames from 20 feet above the wreck scene. The fire melted the asphalt roadway surface about the firemen and heated the steel bridge girders to a glowing red.

Mrs. Anthony Alcock, who escaped with her husband from the flaming coach, said "everyone behaved magnificently."

"I believe everyone in our compartment got out," she added. "It was too late to help anyone else. We all lost our shoes as we ran blindly for safety across the live rails."

George Peters, a 55-year-old off-duty railway engineer, was riding in the third coach. He said his one thought was to cut off the electric current.

"It was a nightmare," Peters said. "I threw a rod across the rails and cut off the power but the damage had been done by then."

Peters said he tried to help those trapped in the first coach but could not stay near it for more than a minute at a time because of the heat.

THREE DECISIONS HANDED DOWN BY COUNTY COURT

The Adams County court this morning handed down opinions finding Oxford Twp.'s "no dumping" ordinance constitutional; permitting a justice of the peace to amend a transcript, and declaring two relatives not entitled to share in estate of Charles A. White, late of Freedom Twp.

Oxford Twp.'s ordinance, passed October 29 1954, was found "valid, constitutional and . . . not unreasonable, arbitrary or discriminatory" in an opinion handed down on the appeal of J. G. Aldridge, Oxford Twp., from the decision of an Oxford Twp. justice of the peace finding him guilty of violating the ordinance and assessing a fine and costs.

The opinion held that for the court "to read into the ordinance exceptions and exemptions which are not there under the pretense that the supervisors must have intended something different than that which they stated in the ordinance would be judicial legislation. We must construe the ordinance as it is written."

Can Become Menace

State legislation grants a township the right to regulate or prohibit the dumping of garbage, "and in this case it prohibits," the court held. Quoting an opinion of another court in a similar case, the Adams County court declared "the accumulation of rubbish and garbage can become a menace to the health and safety of the inhabitants of the township . . . police power of the state is usually defined as the right of a state to prescribe regulations for the good order, peace, health, comfort, protection, convenience and morals of the community . . . the ordinance does not exceed the powers granted to a second class township by the legislature."

Sustains Conviction

Because the ordinance is constitutional "the court do adjudge the defendant (Aldridge) guilty of the violation of the ordinance as charged. The defendant having heretofore paid the fine imposed by the justice, it is ordered that he appear before this court on December 19 to be sentenced to pay the costs unless they are paid prior to that date."

Aldridge resided in the buildings on a 170 acre farm owned by a Mrs. Topper. About ten years ago Mrs. Topper told him to dump rubbish in one of six quarry holes on the property. On May 27, 1955 Aldridge, dumped several barrels of tin cans and trash in one of the quarry holes, about four tenths of a mile from the buildings where he resided and 125 feet from a township road. As a result of that action the original charge was brought.

In an opinion on the "exceptions to the report of the auditor in the estate of Charles A. White, late of Freedom Twp.," the court noted that White gave his residuary estate to the Gettysburg National Bank "to manage and control the same and the income thereof to be equally divided among my nieces and nephews. At and after the death of my nieces and nephews I give and devise my estate to their children in equal shares and the trust thereupon shall end."

Rule Out Two

White was survived by a sister, four nieces and nephews and the children of a niece who was living at the date of the will but who died before White. The court held that the children of the niece who died before her uncle could not share in the estate because the will provided that the income was to be divided equally among the nieces and nephews and only at the time of all of their deaths should go equally to their children. Since one niece died before her uncle therefore she could have no share in the estate, hence none could be passed on to her children since the will stated that the niece was to share "so long as she lived."

The court ruled that the share of Ada Ruth White, Harvey Melvin White Sr., William White Jr. and Samuel White Jr. should be increased from one-fifth to one fourth, and that the distribution of income to Dolores Patterson and Richard Blouse be deleted. The estate totals $52,788.47.

Supports Justice

The third opinion was based on a petition to amend the transcript of the justice of the peace in the speeding charge against Melvin G. Miller. The matter started because (Continued On Page 2)

The record of the justice of the peace "did not reflect the true facts. To permit this to be done would open the door to serious abuses and no reliance could be placed upon the records of the minor judiciary. FBI NABS ONE OF 10 MOST WANTED IN LOOP HOTEL

CHICAGO (P)—John Allen Kendrick, 58, one of the FBI's 10-most-wanted men who has served most of the last 32 years in prisons, was arrested by FBI agents in a Loop hotel last night.

Kendrick, identified by FBI agents as a "hardened gunman" involved in a number of shootings and with a record of escapes from two prisons, was not armed when arrested.

Donald S. Hostetter, agent in charge of the Chicago FBI office, said Kendrick refused to admit his identity, claiming he was simply "Mr. None." He was not registered at the hotel, which Hostetter declined to identify.

Several In Alcatraz

Hostetter said Kendrick, who had served seven years in Alcatraz Prison, was wanted in connection with the shooting of George A. Clainos, of Washington, D.C., in a robbery attempt in December, 1954. He also was wanted for violating terms of his conditional release from Leavenworth Penitentiary in March, 1954.

Hostetter said Kendrick, who was added to the 10-most-wanted list Nov. 2, had been involved in crime since 1923 when he was sentenced to 6½ years in Maryland State Penitentiary for larceny and assault.

In 1930 he was sentenced to the New Jersey State Prison for carrying a concealed weapon but escaped in September, 1931. He was arrested in 1932 in Washington for shooting a policeman and sentenced to 10 years in the District of Columbia reformatory. He escaped in 1933 and joined the notorious "Tri-State Gang," which Hostetter identified as a "group of hijackers, burglars and mail robbers" in Pennsylvania, Virginia and North Carolina.

Kendrick again was arrested in June, 1934, at Johnson City, Tenn., and sent to Alcatraz where he served until 1941 when he was transferred to Leavenworth to serve the rest of his sentence from the New Jersey prison.

He was released in June, 1943, but was back in Leavenworth in 1947 after being sentenced to a term of from 3 to 10 years for shooting a man Hostetter identified as an "underworld associate" in Washington.

President And Close Friend

The President was caught in a laughing, jubilant mood, good evidence of how well he has recovered from his recent heart attack. The picture was made by Paul Vathis of the Associated Press.

CAMDEN, N. J. (P)—George D. Born, 57, is in the Internal Revenue Department's doghouse.

Born's trial was postponed until the court could appoint a lawyer for the unemployed man.

"KNOW THIS"

The secret of a happy life . . . is knowing how to live . . . and recognize the time and place . . . to take away or give . . . to gather joys we must be fair . . . in all we say and do . . . yes, happiness is free to take . . . the rest is up to you . . . most people walk a righteous path . . . and do their very best . . . to foster peace and brotherhood . . . while feathering their nest . . . still there are those who lie and cheat . . . with underhanded ways . . . believing they can forge ahead . . . and gain some unjust praise . . . and actually they may fool . . . their neighbors through the years . . . wearing a mask of make-believe . . . to hide the self-made fears . . . but happiness does not exist . . . upon their shaky shelves . . . as skies are always gray for those . . . who cannot face themselves.

GOD OVER ALL

Naturalists are among the most inspiring of all men who have devoted themselves to the study of Nature. Take the names of a few — Fabre, Hudson, Thoreau, Burroughs, Audubon, Edwin Way Teale, John Muir, and a host of others. These great writers are not commercial. They are wrapped up in their love and devotion to the magical and miraculous in all of the outdoor world. Continually they pay tribute to the God over all in nature.

Science has to bow to the secrets of the earth from which men draw their knowledge with which to create wonders and discover methods whereby they are able to bless all mankind with their research and inventions. This wonderful earth is in itself a mammoth natural laboratory in which these scientists of ours work.

You don't have to wonder where God is, and why. He's everywhere and over all. The imprint of His creative magic is in every leaf that falls in autumn, and in every snowflake. In every flower, no matter how small or humble, you will see the imprint of His love and perfection. You will note Him in every bird and beast in whose brains and instincts their knowledge of food and protection is so evident. There is an angel for every star that shines—somewhere!

Everything in my home is the product of something that this earth has grown or created. I am amazed and humble in thought. My faith and sense of wonder are constantly challenged. What is the matter with human intelligence that there are those who would make a desert of destruction out of all the means of life and happiness, primarily God's gift to all, even to the humblest?

Life is a privilege, an inherited honor. Why shouldn't we "praise God, from whom all blessings flow?" The birds give thanks in song. Why shouldn't we do the same with a song from the heart?

Just Folks

FELLOWSHIP

The earth is warmed by the kindly sun,
But lives are warmed by the deeds of men,
And their words of praise when our best we've done,
And the parting wish that we'll meet again.

The clouds may blanket the sky with gray
And the earth grow chill as the rain descends,
But he shall keep smiling along his way
Whose heart is warmed by the love of friends.

It's the glad "hello" and the handclasp true,
The smile of joy on a friendly face
That means contentment for me and you
And makes of earth a happy place.

It isn't the gold that we strive to earn,
Nor the fame we struggle so long to win,
For these are glories we'd quickly spurn
If never a kind heart took us in.

The poorest man on this earth is he
Who has bartered his friendships for selfish gain,
Who has sought advantage by trickery
And seeks for a welcoming smile in vain.

For the earth is warmed by the kindly sun,
But lives are warmed by a higher plan,
And he shall be glad when his work is done
Who has kept the faith with his fellow man.

MERGED UNION LEADERS SEEK POWER TO BOSS

By JAMES DEVLIN
NEW YORK (AP) — The newly merged AFL-CIO today faced an almost immediate struggle by leaders of the two major political parties for the support of its 16 million members.

Three 1956 presidential possibilities will address the unionists attending the first AFL-CIO convention here next week.

While the speeches are not billed as "political," they can be expected to reflect the Republican and Democratic philosophies.

The question is whether the Republicans can woo some of the traditional Democratic strength away from the labor movement.

The GOP will lead with its ace—President Eisenhower—in convention speechmaking.

Eisenhower, who may or may not be a candidate for reelection, will address the delegates Monday by telephone from his Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

Democrats will get their chance later in the week to hold or strengthen their position.

Harriman Talks Tuesday

Gov. Averell Harriman, a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, will address the convention Tuesday. Adlai Stevenson, an announced Democratic aspirant, will get in the last word with a speech Thursday.

The AFL and CIO completed their individual conventions yesterday, after ratifying the merger, and the delegates were marking time pending the combined session Monday in the 71st Regimental Armory on Park Ave.

Eisenhower, recuperating from his heart ailment, intended originally to send a written message to the convention. The telephone was decided upon Wednesday.

Top unionists took this as a cue the President is backing his secretary of labor, James P. Mitchell, in favor of a friendly approach to the unions.

Some Republicans, notably Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Sen. William F. Knowland of California, have accused labor leaders of raising slush funds to gain control of the Democratic party and the government.

Possibly indicating the significance the President attaches to the occasion, it will be his first "person to person" address since he suffered the heart attack Sept. 24.

2 RED LEADERS DENOUNCED FOR URGING HATRED

By HAROLD K. MILKS
RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Russia's two top men pushed into Burma's hinterland today on their "selling tour" of Southeast Asia.

In Washington, Secretary of State Dulles joined Portugal's foreign minister in denouncing remarks made by the Soviet leaders on their Asian visit as an attempt "to foment hatred between the East and West."

The Russian's host, Premier U Nu, canceled earlier plans to join Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev Sunday in Mandalay. He will remain in Rangoon until the Russians return Monday for another two-day stay here. No reason for U Nu's change in plans was announced.

Before taking off, reliable sources said, Bulganin and Khrushchev and their aides discussed possible Soviet economic assistance for Burma with U Nu and key members of his Cabinet.

Rejected U. S. Aid
There was no immediate hint of the direction such aid would take or of what conditions the Russians might impose for providing it to this strategically important country of 18 million inhabitants. Two years ago Burma rejected any U. S. economic assistance, saying it feared it might have political strings tied to it.

At a banquet here last night, Bulganin declared "we are satisfied our personal contacts here have deepened our mutual understanding of many international problems." He was responding to a toast by the Burmese premier to the Russian leaders and nation.
While Bulganin spoke, Khrushchev sat silent. This contrasted with his performance Thursday night when the Red party boss chose an ancient Buddhist temple for an impromptu blast at the Americans, British, and French. His audience consisted mainly of the foreign correspondents accompanying his party.

Deplore Red Remarks
In Washington, Dulles and visiting Portuguese Foreign Minister Paulo Cunha issued a communique deploring remarks by the Soviet leaders in their Asiatic tour.

The joint statement did not refer to a specific remark by the Russians and was not believed aimed at Khrushchev's outburst against

Salute For The President

President Eisenhower is shown returning the salute of Pfc. John Leas, U. S. Marine Corps, from Steubenville, Ohio, as the President arrived at Camp David, his mountain retreat near Thurmont, Md., from his Gettysburg farm Thursday afternoon. Mr. Eisenhower attended a meeting of the National Security Council.

Pennsylvania's Apple Dessert Queen, Ericka Kaseberg, received some technical pointers this week when she visited Knouse Foods' Peach Glen laboratory where Food Technologist Harold K. Oliver demonstrated the duties of quality control.

GUNMAN GUILTY OF KILLING HIS FRIEND IN BAR

NEW YORK (AP) — Elmer "Trigger" Burke, 38-year-old gunman, was convicted last night of first degree murder for killing a friend in a Manhattan bar three years ago.

An all-male jury convicted Burke after deliberating 50 minutes at the end of a 23-day trial. Although sentencing was deferred two weeks, the verdict carries a mandatory death penalty.

Boston authorities, who linked Burke with the spectacular $1,210,000 Brink's holdup in 1950, sought unsuccessfully to have him turned over to them instead of standing trial for the New York killing.

One of Burke's four court-appointed attorneys announced the murder decision would be appealed. "This was just a barroom brawl," he said.

If the verdict stands, Burke will be sent to the Sing Sing Prison electric chair.

Claim Insanity
The defense argued that Burke was innocent because of insanity

the West in the Buddhist temple. It did refer to certain "allegations" by the touring Russians "concerning the Portuguese provinces in the Far East."

Khrushchev said recently in India that Goa, Portuguese colony on India's West Coast, should go to India regardless of Portugal's determination to fight for it if necessary. Bulganin said Russia supports India's "right to oust" the Portuguese.

and claimed the state failed to prove that he knew the nature of the alleged crime on July 23, 1952. On that date Burke's pal, Edward "Poochy" Walsh, 33, was shot to death.

Burke testified at the trial he was too drunk to remember even having gone to the bar with Walsh. The state ridiculed the insanity plea and called Walsh's death "an execution, an assassination of another member of the underworld by another, a cold-blooded assassination."

Burke betrayed no emotion as the verdict was given.

Linked To Robberies
The wily World War II Ranger disappeared after the Walsh slaying. Authorities did not get their hands on him until nearly two years later when he was arrested in Boston on charges of possessing a submachine gun.

Boston police said the weapon was the one used in an attempt to silence a suspect in the Brink's holdup in Boston.

Burke was considered by Boston police as an important key to the unsolved Brink's case and also to a $650,000 armored car robbery in Danvers, Mass.

On Aug. 23, 1954, Burke escaped from the Boston jail.

One day less than a year later he was recaptured at Folly Beach, S. C., and brought to New York to face trial on the Walsh murder indictment.

William Howard Taft who weighed more than 300 pounds was the heaviest U. S. President.

U. S. TO HELP ARGENTINA

By BRUCE HENDERSON
BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The United States is preparing to give Argentina's drooping economy a shot in the arm—a 60-million-dollar loan to launch this country's steel industry.

The loan was announced yesterday by Dr. Raul Prebisch, economic adviser to provisional President Pedro Aramburu's government, after three-day talks here with Henry F. Holland, U.S. assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs. Prebisch said final details of the loan were ironed out with the help of Samuel C. Waugh, president of the U.S. Export-Import Bank.

Peron Refused Loan

Prebisch noted the loan originally was requested by the Peron regime but was granted to anti-Peronists who ousted the dictator. He said the formal papers will be signed soon.

Prebisch said the money will be used to complete a steel plant at San Nicolas 37 miles southeast of Rosario. The plant was left unfinished by Peron.

Holland, who attended a news conference at which Prebisch announced the loan, did not mention any additional loans for general purposes. But he offered all possible U.S. technical assistance. Informants said this may include farm and oilfield equipment as well as technical advice.

Philly Barbers Raise Clipping Costs Again

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A haircut will cost another 25 cents in the Philadelphia area starting next Thursday. That's $1.50 if you're over 13, $1.15 if you're 13 or younger.

The new prices, tentatively agreed upon in October, were announced yesterday. The prices were approved by three barber's organizations.

Shaves will be 85 cents, a 20-cent increase, and manicures will be $1.50, a 25-cent increase.

Allies Will Stay Until Unification

BERLIN (AP) — U. S. Ambassador James B. Conant declared Friday the Western Allies intend to remain in Berlin until Germany is reunified.

The ambassador reiterated the Western pledge as an answer to the Soviet move which appears designed to end occupation status for East Berlin and include that quarter of the city inside the Communist East German republic.

Conant told a news conference that the incident created by detention of four Americans in East Berlin on Sunday was serious.

He came here especially Friday to illustrate how serious the U. S. government views it.

ADLAI SWINGS SOUTH ON TOUR

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson wound up his first tour of the 1956 presidential campaign Friday with an aching right hand but with hopes buoyed by a reception his supporters said far exceeded expectations.

His handshaking campaign swing down the Florida peninsula gave him a jump on the field in a bid for the state's delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

A Stevenson slate is expected to be entered in Florida's presidential preference primary May 29, but the former Illinois governor said he wasn't sure at this time whether he would get a chance to return to do some more active campaigning.

Primary Conflict

A complication is that the California primary comes up only a few days after the Florida primary and the long jump may present a problem.

Stevenson's principal competition in Florida is expected to come from Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Stevenson and his party left by plane Friday morning for Oklahoma City to address the National League of Young Democrats.

Mountaineers Drub Upsala 106-75 As Jack Sullivan Continues Old Time Form

Paced by All-American Jack Sullivan, who threw in a point-a-minute, Coach Jim Phelan's Mountaineers repaid an old score Friday night by whipping Upsala College 106-75 at Emmitsburg. Upsala was one of the three college teams to beat the Mountaineers last year.

Mount St. Mary's raced off to an early lead and by the 12-minute mark had built up a 27-10 margin. Phelan yanked his starters and finished the half with his reserves. The Mountaineers led 46-32 at half time.

The Vikings started the second half with a sparkling offensive display that one time cut the Mount St. Mary's margin to 5 points at 58-53. But the Mountaineers again caught fire and romped to an easy victory as Phelan cleared his bench in the last eight minutes of the game.

Whole Squad Scores

Every member of the Mount St. Mary's squad broke into the scoring column with Sullivan leading the way with 27 points in as many minutes. Phelan started two freshmen, center Jerry Bollinger and forward Tito Nanni. Both showed good potential with Nanni breaking into double figures with 13 points on long one-handers. Bollinger worked the boards in fine fashion to ease the rebound problem created by the loss of Angelo, O'Donnell, and McNamara from last year's squad.

Freshman Burt Sheing also scored in double figures and promises to push the veteran Mountaineer back court men for a starting job. Eddie Bals, pint size set-shot artist, who had only one basket in the first half, finally found the range after the intermission to score five field goals. The Mountaineers had a miserable night at the foul line, hitting 20 of 40 charity tosses.

Unable to match the Mountaineer height, Upsala stayed in the game mainly on the efforts of Gasparini, a fleet-footed forward who had 26 points and gave a sparkling offensive performance in a lost cause.

Three Games Next Week

The Mountaineers play three games next week. They open defense of their Mason-Dixon title on Tuesday against Catholic U. in Washington, visit York for a charity fray with Millersville on Thursday, and face Georgetown at Emmitsburg on Saturday. The Hoyas frosh meet the Mountaineer frosh in the preliminary game Saturday at 6:45 p.m.

DARRELL FLOYD OPENS SEASON WITH 33 POINTS

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Two members of the 1954-55 All-America basketball team and San Francisco's defending NCAA champions are off to a fast start in quest of new laurels.

Purman's Darrell Floyd, the nation's most prolific scorer last season, tossed in 33 points in leading the Paladins to an 86-66 Southern Conference victory over Davidson last night.

San Francisco's Bill Russell, hailed by many as one of the greatest college players in recent years, tallied only 15, but grabbed 26 rebounds as the Dons opened a bid to retain their No. 1 ranking with a 70-39 triumph over little Chico State. The Dons, however, are likely to find it tougher going tonight when they meet Southern California.

Ohio State vs. Butler
Robin Freeman of Ohio State, only other member of the Associated Press All-America still in college, makes his debut tonight against Butler, already a surprise winner over Wisconsin. LaSalle's Tom Cola and Duquesne's Dick Ricketts have graduated to the pro ranks.

Oregon State ranked No. 10 last season bowed to Oregon 57-46. For the most part, the favorites came through but the night was not without its upsets.

UCLA, only team to beat San Francisco last season and headed for the ECAC holiday tournament in New York's Madison Square Garden along with the Dons, bowed to Brigham Young 75-58 with the Skyline Conference five breaking loose for 23 points in a closing drive.

Favored Wyoming Loses
Montana State smashed a 27-year-old "jinx" by overwhelming the highly favored Wyoming 68-59. The two teams meet again tonight in Sheridan, Wyo. Seattle, annually a strong West Coast independent, dropped a 65-59 decision to San Jose State. Stanford's Indians opened their season by upsetting Washington's towering Huskies 72-55.

Marquette rolled over St. Norbert 66-43.

Two Atlantic Coast Conference games saw Duke whip Clemson 97-63 and Maryland top Virginia 67-55. Wake Forest, however, lost 101-86 to George Washington as Joe Holup scored 35 points for the Colonials in a game in which 54 personal fouls were called.

NEW OXFORD 5 DROPS OPENER

New Oxford High School bowed 52-43 to Kennard-Dale as it opened its basketball season at New Oxford, Friday evening.

A poor first quarter and an equally dismal third frame proved disastrous to Coach Russ Sohlleitner's cagers. They were outscored 16-8 and 16-7, respectively, in those quarters.

Charley Ecker hit the cords for 21 points to lead the winners while Don Wiseman led New Oxford with 15.

The Kennard-Dale reserves also won the preliminary contest 45-26. New Oxford meets Northern Joint at Dillsburg next Tuesday evening.

Cards Have Second "Rookie Of Year"

CHICAGO (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals yesterday became the first team in baseball to nail down successive rookie of the year awards when outfielder Bill Virdon was named the top newcomer in the National League by the Baseball Writers Assn. of America.

Virdon, 24, succeeds teammate Wally Moon who was named rookie of the year in 1954. Virdon collected 15 votes while Jack Meyer, Philadelphia pitcher, was named on eight ballots. Don Bessent, Brooklyn relief pitcher, received two votes.

Virdon batted .281 for the Cardinals after being acquired in a trade which sent outfielder Enos Slaughter to the New York Yankees.

Winner of seven of eight fights this year, Logart, ranked sixth, has a 40-5-5 record. Akins' record is 31-14-2. He was ranked third.

Akins weighed 147, Logart, 144½.

YOGI BERRA IS MOST VALUABLE IN JUNIOR LOOP

CHICAGO (AP)—Catcher Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees today was named the American League's most valuable player for the second successive year and the third time in his career.

The honor, voted by the Baseball Writers Assn. of America, put Berra in a bracket with Jimmy Poxx and Joe DiMaggio, the only other three-time American League winners.

Poxx won the award in 1932 and 1933 with Philadelphia and in 1938 with Boston. DiMaggio was the winner in 1939, 1941 and 1947 with the Yankees.

Berra, who also was MVP in 1951 and 1954, became the tenth Yankee to win the award since it was initiated in 1931 with Bob (Lefty) Grove of Philadelphia being awarded the Kenesaw Mountain Landis Trophy.

Kaline Is Second
Outfielders Al Kaline of Detroit and Al Smith of Cleveland finished second and third, respectively, with Boston's Ted Williams in fourth place.

The committee named Berra on seven first-place ballots which helped him pick up 218 points. Kaline, with four firsts, had 201 points and Smith, who also had seven firsts, had 200 points.

Williams had 143 points and one first-place vote.

Berra, in helping the Yanks to the American League pennant, batted .72 last season, had 37 home runs and 103 runs-batted-in.

He played in 147 games and has a .293 lifetime batting average. The only other player to win the award in two successive years besides Poxx, and now Berra, was pitcher Hal Newhouse who was named MVP with Detroit in 1944 and 1945.

CUBAN WANTS TO FIGHT BASILIO

NEW YORK (AP)—Every one wants to fight Carmen Basilio since the welterweight champion has become one of boxing's "golden boys." Young Ike Logart of Cuba got on the waiting list today behind Johnny Saxton and Vince Martinez.

The 22-year-old Cuban from Kid Gavilan's home province of Camaguey put in his bid after whipping Virgil Akins of St. Louis in a dull duel of contenders last night.

The first three rounds proved the difference.

All three officials gave them to Ike. The rest of the spiritless scrap was fairly even.

Referee Larry Napp, the American League baseball umpire who made his debut as a main event official in the Garden, and Judge Frank Forbes each voted for Logart, 6-3-1. Judge Art Alda scored for Logart, 7-3. The AP card had Ike the winner, 7-3.

Winner of seven of eight fights this year, Logart, ranked sixth, has a 40-5-5 record. Akins' record is 31-14-2. He was ranked third.

Akins weighed 147, Logart, 144½.

MOSCONI REGAINS CROWN

Bullets Oppose Lebanon Valley Here Tonight

Tonight at 8 o'clock the Gettysburg College cagers clash with Lebanon Valley in their second straight home game.

The Dutchmen, loaded with veterans from last year's (19-5) squad, opened their campaign by defeating Dickinson 77-67 Thursday night at Annville. Bob Nelson and Jerry Steger were the big offensive guns for the Dutchmen.

Gettysburg will be seeking to rebound from its defeat at the hands of Elizabethtown. The Bullets were somewhat disappointing in their initial game but are confident they will make a much better showing tonight.

PRO FOOTBALL RACE NEARING TITLE DECISION

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ

The Associated Press

The conference races in the National Football League approach the showdown stage tomorrow as the contending teams seek to clarify their title aspirations in the next-to-last weekend of regular season play.

In the Western Conference the Los Angeles Rams hold a half game lead over the Chicago Bears, who, in turn, are a half game ahead of the Baltimore Colts. Green Bay is two games off the pace, but the Packers still have a mathematical chance to gain the title.

The Eastern Division race presents a clearer picture with the Cleveland Browns and the Washington Redskins the only title contenders. The Browns, aiming for their sixth straight division crown, hold a half game advantage over Washington.

Rams Vs. Bears
Tomorrow's pairings list Baltimore at Los Angeles, Detroit at the Chicago Bears, Green Bay at San Francisco, Cleveland at Pittsburgh, New York at Washington and the Chicago Cards at Philadelphia.

The Rams 6-3-1 can win the Western race if they defeat Baltimore 5-4-1 and the Bears 6-4 how to Detroit. And the Eastern championship will be all over but the shouting if the Browns 7-2-1 down Pittsburgh while the Redskins 7-3 are losing to the Giants.

Los Angeles has to knock off the Colts if the Rams hope to maintain their slight grip on first place. The two teams tangled two weeks ago with the game ending in a 17-17 tie.

Both clubs will keep an eye peeled on how the Bears are faring against Detroit, last year's conference champs. The Bears had won six in a row and were threatening to make a runaway of the race when they were upset by their cross-town rivals, the Cardinals, 53-14, last Sunday.

Detroit has won three of its last four games to move into a tie for fifth place with erratic San Francisco. Each has a 3-7 record. The 49ers will try to eliminate Green Bay 5-5 from contention.

Cleveland shouldn't experience too much difficulty with the injury-riddled Steelers, whom they walloped 41-14 two weeks ago. Washington, on the other hand could find the improving Giants a bit troublesome. In their previous meeting this season, the Giants outclassed the "Skins" 35-7.

Expect Hartack To Ride 400th Winner

MIAMI (AP)—Willie Hartack, currently the hottest figure in racing, appeared a "sure thing" to ride his 400th winner of the year at Tropical Park today and become the second jockey in history to accomplish that feat.

The little gentleman from Johnstown, Pa., brought in a double yesterday to push his score to 399 and had four mounts today with the probability of more on the nine-race program at Tropical.

Willie Shoemaker holds the record for winners in one year with 485 in 1953.

DELONE DRUBS THUNDERBOLTS IN TWIN BILL

Delone Catholic High School got off to a flying start in the 1955-56 basketball season by drubbing the Littlestown Thunderbolts, who were also opening their court season, 54-31 Friday night on the McSherrtown court before a packed house.

The main factors in capturing the game for the Squires were their foul shooting and fine defensive play. The Squires dunked 24 out of 38 from the free throw line and the Bolts picked up 11 for 21 in the same manner.

Littlestown's Don Zepp took the opening tap and drove down court for two points to start the game and put Littlestown out in front for the only time during the contest.

Tom Klunk of Delone came right back and landed a one-handed push shot and a pair of free throws as the Squires moved ahead. The Bolts only other score in the initial frame was a set shot from the outside by Al Snyder. Dick Smith and Joe Poist hit for the two-pointers for Delone while Carroll Funk, Richie Hemler and Klunk connected from the foul line to give Delone a huge 18-4 lead at the end of the first stanza.

Reserves Take Over
Coach John Russ started to substitute freely in the second period as his Squires widened the gap.

This time it was Smith, Funk and Staub landing fouls while Klunk and Jim Strazzella hit from outside. Littlestown picked up five points when Stan Mummert, playing with an injured finger, swished a pair of one-handed push shots from the corner and Gene Miller added a free toss.

Throughout the second half the Squires kept moving constantly ahead although Coach Wili Goebrecht's lads outscored the Red and Blue team by a few points in the third frame. Delone made up for the loss in the final period as they tallied 15 points.

Tom Gouker, Littlestown guard, tallied all his points in the second half as he took scoring honors with 12 points. Gouker dumped eight out of 11 fouls with two field goals. Carroll Funk and Dick Smith shared the spotlight for Delone.

Smith made eight for 13 on the free throw line for 10 points while Funk collected the same number of tallies on four field goals and two for two from the foul circle.

Delone Scrubs Win
The Delone JV's under Coach Al Bell, got off to the same start as the varsity as they walloped the Littlestown reserves 49-13. Tom Staub was the big man of the evening with 22 points for the Squires. Jack Busby topped the Bolt list with seven points.

On Tuesday Delone will entertain the Cannons of Biglerville while Littlestown will be host to Kennard-Dale.

Strong Will Helps Drivers Out Of Accidents; Millions Drive "Blind" At High Speed

By FREDERICK C. RUSSELL
Some drivers keep out of trouble because they have a strong will; others get into it because they have a strong won't.

Millions Unsure Of Speed

Few are aware of the fact, but millions of motorists are driving "blind" because they do not know exactly how fast their cars are traveling.

Inaccurate speedometers have brought on a situation which safety experts believe accounts for a high percentage of current accidents. Many cars are running as much as ten miles per hour faster than their speedometers indicate, a fact that traps even the best of operators into exceeding the brake limit. Slow speedometers are reported to be more prevalent than fast speed indicators. But even if a driver thinks he is driving faster than his car actually is traveling his failure to make good time on a trip is likely to tempt him to take chances in an effort to pile up mileage.

There is no excuse for speedometer inaccuracy, since the service charge for restoring this important meter to sanity costs about what many people pay for a good dinner. It is not a good idea to check for speedometer accuracy by trailing a friend's car and comparing notes because the chances are that his speedometer also is inaccurate. Furthermore, the inaccuracies usually come in the higher speed brackets where they are all the more dangerous.

One of the new things we have to learn in keeping close tabs on our new cars is to be careful when checking the oil level of the automatic transmission. Always wipe off the area around the dip stick before taking a reading. Only in this way will you be able to make sure not to allow some accumulated dirt to get into the case where it could cause a lot of grief.

Meeting A New Problem

Chrome plating of piston rings, introduced for the purpose of providing longer life for these hard working parts, has introduced some problems which the trade has been meeting in various ways. All of this has required a better understanding of the V-8 engine which because of its shorter stroke doesn't have as much piston travel per mile as a long stroke motor.

The net effect was like driving slower. Here were harder surfaced rings moving a shorter distance per mile of car travel, and thus not seating as quickly or as well. Since detergent oil has been needed for proper operation of hydraulic valve lifters the rings moved too easily over their cylinder walls, and by not seating properly often allowed oil to suck up into the combustion chamber where it burned off too rapidly.

The problems reached the point early in the year where some mechanics were putting a little mild cleansing powder into the cylinders to help the rings seat. Then came improvements in the rings themselves, including such features as beveled rails. But most important of all is the need for the driver to operate his car at road speeds right from the start, instead of poking along. In this way he increases piston travel and helps the rings seat the way they should.

That Chameleon Effect

If your gay colored car doesn't look the same some night when you are looking at it under artificial lighting don't think something has happened to your eyes. A red car in a green light will actually look black. Neon signs usually change the hue, sometimes quite pleasantly. An oddity is that a yellow colored car will look somewhat greenish when standing in a purple light.

"We're back to the time of year it is important to keep the gas tank filled at all times. Main advantage is to check tank condensation which is a major cause of water in the fuel line. Then, too, a full tank adds a little extra weight to the rear end of the car, which is useful for better traction. People who have been caught in fresh snow storms while traveling know all too well how important it is to have as much gasoline as possible in order to keep warm from engine heat."

Best Reason For Trading

Trading for a new car every two or three years has been advanced as an economic gain to a point where many motorists who follow this policy overlook that an even better reason for changing cars is the improvement which they buy. Within a span of only three years one very advanced make of car showed at least 15 definite improvements, several of which were closely related to safety. Few buyers realize how much change actually develops over so short a period of the motor world's progress-packed history.

These gains are what should influence the buyer, not always his pride, or his pocketbook, or styling or economic conditions. Some astute buyers are smart enough to foresee the drift of car design, and schedule their buying so as to enjoy the highest percentage of engineering advance. Make a list of the things your present car does not have, but which are now available on the latest offerings, and you will discover that you have at least a half dozen.

Cutting out the motor fan automatically at higher speeds is reported to be on the cards for introduction in 1957, but many will remember that it first appeared in the Willis-Steele, Claire car back in 1921. . . . Quite suggestive of something that may become a playboy's vogue is using a glamour car to tow a midsize auto, like a boat with a dingy. . . . One company has already built over 100,000 of its 1956 models, and 50,000 went by last night while I was trying to sleep.

Pointer On White Walls.

In cleaning whitewall tires with one of the spray-on chemicals be sure to use a clean cloth for removing the dirt and do not touch the rubber with a dirty section of the cloth. The chemical makes the rubber slightly tacky temporarily and in this condition it will attract dirt from the cloth.

The fact that a car must be clean

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Counterman, of Easton, enroute to Manila, where they hope Evangelist Oral Roberts can cure Mrs. Counterman of polio paralysis, are shown as they arrived in Gettysburg hoping to see President Eisenhower at his office in the post office Friday. President Eisenhower was not at his office. A Secret Service man on duty, learning that the couple wished to see the President about passports to Manila told them that passports are obtained in Washington and urged them to discontinue their trip. They left, however, for Washington. (AP Photo) before it can be successfully waxed seems to be rather generally accepted, but apparently too many motorists assume that a clean car is one that has been washed. Actually the surface must not only be free of dirt but also must be carefully polished. That is the only way you can get it smooth enough to take a successful waxing. Exception can be made in cases where one is seeking merely to get a quick protection in event that the car has to be left out in the open for awhile.

Having Their Troubles
Q. I have been noticing what seems to be a humming noise in the rear end of my car, yet tests show that the rear end gears are properly meshed and are not worn. Oddly enough this has developed since installing a new muffler. K. L. J.
A. This is probably an exhaust noise. My guess is that the new muffler is too light or too small for the output of the engine.

Q. In spite of the brisk weather the engine of my car continues to develop a vapor lock condition when climbing long grades. I have tried different kinds of gasoline and have replaced the fuel pump. J. McL.
A. To me this looks like a bad case of overheating. There's a good chance that the ignition timing is

Scranton Women Face Grand Jury Charges

HARRISBURG (AP)—Two Scranton women were under a federal grand jury indictment Friday on charges of conspiring to defraud the U. S. government in the operation of a beauty school for veterans.

Ethyl Maude Fenwick Cabell and Ann Regina Zack were indicted by the jury on 11 counts in the case yesterday. They operated the Fenwick Beauty School in Scranton. No date was set for preliminary hearings in the case.

Q. Checking the torque converter of my car I find that it is over-filled, yet no one has touched the car. How can more oil get into this unit without someone putting it in? M. N. Jr.

A. A logical question. But on this car there is a cooler for the oil of the torque converter. You will find that there is a drop in the coolant level in the radiator and that water is getting into the torque converter. It calls for immediate attention.

Q. I notice that the speedometer pointer on my car has a habit of wavering, sometimes quite wildly. What's wrong? W. L. P.

A. The cable needs lubrication, and may also be found to have a kink.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 254 Fern St., West Hartford 7, Conn., and enclose stamped, addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

INTRODUCE BILL FOR SALES TAX

HARRISBURG (AP)—Rep. Waterhouse (R-Erie) introduced a 3 per cent sales tax bill Friday and said he acted "strictly on my own."

The bill would follow the Ohio plan of the retailer purchasing stamps from the state and affixing the stamps to merchandise at the time of sale.

The bill went to the Democratic-controlled Ways and Means Committee to join another sales tax bill introduced last March by Rep. Earl Hewitt Sr. (R-Indiana).

There were indications that action on sales tax legislation would be held up, at least, until the Republican-ruled Senate disposes of Gov. Leader's manufacturers' excise tax bill, one way or the other. Asked for the viewpoint of the Republican House leadership on Waterhouse's bill, Rep. Smith, GOP House leader, told a reporter: "We're taking no stand and we're not even talking taxes until the Senate makes a decision on the excise bill. We're neither for it or against it."

Smith's Democratic counterpart commented: "It shows the gentleman has great courage in introducing the bill. I think the Senate might adopt the excise tax with amendments, and, in that case we wouldn't even let this one out of committee."

Waterhouse told reporters he acted "strictly on my own" in submitting the bill. He said he understood some Democrats might support it.

RED USES BURMA SHRINE TO LASH WEST STUPIDITY

By HAROLD K. MILKS
RANGOON, Burma (P)—From a seat in one of the Buddhist world's most venerated shrines, Nikita S. Khrushchev launched a bitter, impromptu tirade Friday against the "stupidity" of Western nations.

Red-faced with anger and pointing his finger wildly, the Soviet Communist party chief accused the United States and France of attempting to kidnap a Russian visitor. He also had some derisive words for the British.

Khrushchev spoke out as he rested in the 2,000-year-old Shwe Dagon (Golden Pagoda), after climbing nearly 200 steps to the heart of the famous temple. He and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin were touring Rangoon shrines in the second day of their week's visit to Burma.

Khrushchev Lashes Out
Chatting with Burmese ambassador to Russia Maung Ohn and foreign correspondents, Khrushchev admired the temple's few wood carvings, then lashed out: "England (which freed Burma in 1948) did not exist before William the Conqueror."

"Your temples are 2,000 years old and theirs only 1,000 years — yet they call you savages and barbarians.

"How difficult history is to change — because there are some people who refuse to change it."

Architecture Discussed
Next came a discussion of architecture — and of the case of Russian architect Alexander V. Vlasov, whose work was censured by the Soviet government while he was touring the United States and France with other Russian architects.

"Be careful or you might be invited to America," Khrushchev continued. "After we criticized Comrade Vlasov, they tried to persuade him to stay. The French also repeated this stupid mistake the Americans had made."

(Actually there was no reported effort by Americans to persuade Vlasov to remain with them. In Paris a band of Russian exiles tried to "liberate" him, but the Russian party went to a French police station to escape the crowd and Vlasov subsequently accused the French police of trying to "kidnap" him.)

Phantom Buzz Saw Worries Housewife

KEY WEST, Fla. (P)—An elderly housewife telephoned police that somebody was cutting his way into her home with an electric saw. At the scene, police found nothing but she insisted she still heard the saw. Then the officers noticed she was wearing a hearing aid that emitted a sound similar to a buzz saw in operation.

SOLON WANTS GM TO ANSWER MORE QUERIES

By EDWIN B. HARRISON
WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) said today inquiring senators "still have lots of questions" to ask General Motors Corp. executives who spent most of yesterday listening to dealer criticism of GM policies.

"We want answers to numerous dealers' complaints," O'Mahoney told newsmen.

The Wyoming Democrat is acting chairman of a Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee which is studying GM as an example of corporate bigness.

The hearings were suspended until Tuesday when more than a score of GM executives were asked to return.

Harlow H. Curtice, GM president, said yesterday his firm has "documentary evidence" to answer all complaints made by past and present GM dealers to the Senate group.

"Sales Pressure"
Some of these dealers have charged they were put under excessive sales pressure, that dealership franchises were taken away arbitrarily and that they have been forced to buy equipment they didn't need.

After waiting more than four hours while several more dealers registered their gripes, Curtice took the witness chair and defended the ethics and practices followed by GM in its relations with dealers and the public.

O'Mahoney said this would be explored in detail next week.

Also testifying at yesterday's session was 30-year-old Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the GM board, who credited the firm's development into the world's biggest manufacturer to selection of key executives and managers.

Worried About Bigness

Sloan said the GM policy of coordination and decentralization had brought it success and he expressed a hope that GM could continue to develop and grow with the nation and its economy.

He said General Motors had not expanded into 45 divisions with worldwide operations "just for the sake of expansion."

Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) told Sloan the public now is worried about bigness, including "big labor, big government, big business." He asked "how much bigger" GM would get.

"I don't think I can answer that question," Sloan replied. "It's in the future," adding: "You can't stand still or you lose position."

Firm President Dies Of Cancer

CUMBERLAND, Md. (P)—Edgar DeWain Vandegrift, 51, president of the John L. Vandegrift Co., a contracting firm, died Friday of cancer.

Vandegrift, active in civic affairs, headed the Chamber of Commerce industrial promotion committee which helped bring a Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. plant to Cumberland. It is under construction.

He died Friday morning at Cumberland Memorial Hospital.

Mediator Awaits Westinghouse Reply

PITTSBURGH (P)—Federal mediation Commissioner John Murray Friday awaited a reply from Westinghouse Electric Corp. to his request for a resumption of contract talks with the striking CIO International Union of Electrical Workers.

Murray Thursday night asked both sides to meet at a Pittsburgh hotel next Monday. Shortly afterwards a union spokesman in New York said the union's negotiating committee "will be there (in Pittsburgh) when the talks open."

Embankment Hit; Motorist Is Killed

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (P)—George W. Everitts, 57, of nearby McMasters, was killed Friday when his automobile left Rt. 11 south of Greencastle and hit a stone embankment after running 200 feet into a field.

Everitts, a carpenter, was enroute to work at Hagerstown, Md., at the time of the accident.

U.N. Truce Team Investigates Gaza

JERUSALEM (P)—U.N. truce observers Friday investigated a heavy exchange of fire between Egyptian and Israeli troops along the Gaza frontier.

The shooting in the Kissufim area lasted seven hours, ending early Thursday night. An Egyptian spokesman in Cairo said two Egyptian soldiers were wounded seriously.

An Israeli army spokesman said two Israeli soldiers were wounded. Each side charged the other with starting the action. Egypt lodged a strong complaint with the U.N. armistice commission.

Men At The Wheel Are Bad Risks

RICHMOND, Va. (P)—Insurance underwriters disagree with Kipling's famous line "They think the male driver under 25 is more deadly than the female — especially if he is unmarried."

Proposals for revised liability insurance rates, filed with the state, ask increases up to 43.6 per cent for unmarried male drivers under 25. Such drivers who are married would get off lighter and girls in the same age bracket — married or unmarried — would get a decrease.

Baby Sitter Loses Track Of Infant

WALHALLA, S. C. (P)—The Rev. Eugene Mason, baby sitting with his 1½-year-old son, lay down by the youngster in an effort to coax him to sleep.

But it was the minister who fell asleep. He was awakened sometime later by the sharp ringing of the telephone.

It was a neighbor calling to report that the boy had wandered to his house seeking excitement.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (P)—When the YMCA started an eight-week course in night school it was somewhat surprised at the response — three men and 21 women signed up.

Everyone To Fill Own Tax Form Now

WASHINGTON (P)—Unless you are illiterate, incapacitated or unable to read English, don't expect the revenue service to fill out your next income tax form. But it will still help you do your own.

Gone, said the agency yesterday, is its "unlimited service to all taxpayers in the preparation of their returns."

During the tax-paying period which runs from Jan. 1 through next April 15, the service's employees will "assist" in the filing of the returns—and that's all unless the taxpayer qualifies under the three exceptions.

PMS OPPOSES LEADER'S PLAN ON STATE BD.

HARRISBURG (P)—The Pennsylvania Medical Society Friday opposed Gov. Leader's proposal to transfer a doctors' examining board from the Public Instruction Department to the State Department.

"The transfer of the Medical Board of Education and Licensure and the other licensing boards from the Department of Public Instruction to the Department of State removes them from the atmosphere of education," said Robert Craig, administrative assistant for the society's legislative committee.

Craig testified at a Senate Rules Committee public hearing on a series of four government reorganization proposals submitted by the governor to the legislature.

As the hearing opened James C. Charlesworth, the governor's secretary for administration, disclosed a move is under way to seek the transfer of the state Athletic Commission from the Revenue Department.

MISSOULA, Mont. (P)—If a thief tries to shoot something with the pistol he stole from Roosevelt School, he will be surprised at the result. Police said it was a .32 blank revolver used by starters for track events.

It's All News

ASHLAND, Ky. (P)—Randolph F. Booker's car smashed into a telephone pole Thursday and caught fire.

Booker, 27, was charged with reckless driving. He pleaded guilty and Municipal Judge A. R. Innes imposed a $100 fine but agreed to suspend it if Booker would give up his license for 30 days.

Sure, Booker agreed. "I don't have anything to drive anyway."

HARRISBURG, Pa. (P)—Santa Claus has shoved a federal judge right out of his courtroom in the post office building here.

Judge Frederick V. Folmer said that when the first of December rolled around the post office asked him to vacate to make room for the flood of Christmas mail.

The judge made it clear that he was all for the holiday spirit, and that he understood what the post office was up against, but thought it would be nice to have his courtroom all the year 'round. As it is, he must call a December recess.

MACON, Mo. (P)—Icy road conditions usually are blamed for traffic accidents, but there is a 5-year old boy here who probably owes his life to the slippery pavement.

Ralph Brammer was hit by a car Thursday and knocked down. But instead of being run over, he was pushed ahead of the front wheel for about 100 feet, sliding on his side.

The driver had been unaware of the boy until he heard shouts. The boy was not seriously hurt.

GOP CHAIRMAN CONFIDENT OF GAIN IN SOUTH

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall sees an upswing in GOP strength in the normally Democratic South. But Adlai Stevenson puts a different reading on the situation.

Hall voiced optimism for his party's Southern prospects in addressing a GOP fund-raising dinner in Atlanta last night. He called on Southern voters to "get under the banner Dwight D. Eisenhower is carrying" and help the GOP win next year's presidential election.

Stevenson, however, said his recent swing through Florida has convinced him the 1956 Democratic presidential candidate will carry that Southern state, which voted for Eisenhower in 1952.

The former Illinois governor—the only avowed candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination—was in Oklahoma City yesterday for the national convention of Young Democrats.

"Not At War"

Also on hand was Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, a possible Democratic candidate who has been critical of Stevenson's call for an election campaign based on a program of "moderation."

Stevenson and Williams told newsmen they're "not at war" with each other and are willing to talk over their differences. Williams said no personality split was involved in his urging a "bold and progressive" campaign theme.

The two men emphasized domestic issues in their talks before the Young Democrats. Both hit at administration handling of the farm problem, Williams saying Secretary of Agriculture Benson would "leave more undone than done."

Stevenson accused the administration of taking a "hypocritical approach" to domestic needs and being dominated by interests "insensitive to the farmer, the worker, the smaller business people."

See Gain In 1956

In his talk to Georgia Republicans, Hall tossed aside his prepared speech but covered most of the points made in it. In his manuscript, Hall had said the South "is turning toward the Republicans in such force that in 1956 we will pick up another 10 or 15 congressional seats."

Sen. Goldwater of Arizona, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, also was optimistic about his party's chances to recapture control of the Senate next year.

Goldwater conceded in a Washington interview today that the farm issue would give Republicans trouble in the Midwest. But he said GOP chances of winning control of the Senate are "looking up." He said his committee will work hardest to gain Senate seats in New York, Oregon, Washington and Nevada.

ENRAGED MAN KILLS SURGEONS

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Police believe a crazed German-born miner who killed two surgeons and wounded a third Thursday before blowing himself up was enraged because the doctors would not certify an imaginary ailment.

The assailant, Karl Siegfried Kast, 39, swept through the doctors' adjoining offices, firing a 38-caliber revolver and scattering homemade gelignite bombs. Then he locked himself in the office of a fourth doctor who had eluded him, shot himself through the head and blew himself up with a bomb thrust into his waistband.

Kast killed Doctors Arthur Vincent Meehan, 67, and Andrew Russel Murray, 46. He pumped three bullets into Dr. George Joseph Gallagher, 35.

Police said Kast had consulted the four doctors over an imaginary back ailment. When they refused to give him a compensation certificate, he sent them threatening letters in recent weeks.

County Agent Tells Method Of Checking Hog Production Costs To Determine Profits

By FRANK S. ZETTEL
Adams County Farm Agent

"Are you making money on hogs? Can you afford to produce hogs with today's hog prices?" We can't answer these questions for you, but we can tell you how to make an accurate estimate.

It takes approximately 450 pounds of grain and supplement to produce 100 pounds of hogs. This figure includes feed for the boar and sows as well as market hogs.

But here's the fine point — although the average farmer used 450 pounds of feed to produce 100 pounds of hogs, about 10 per cent of his neighbors used only 400 pounds — some even less. And inefficient feeders used 600 pounds of feed and over.

How much did you feed? If you have good records, you will have no trouble carrying on an efficient feeding program. If not, you will have to estimate — and if your guess is wrong, it can lower your profits.

Figuring "Profit-ability"
Feed accounts for about 80 cents of every dollar for raising pigs. So, for every $80 of feed used, total production cost will be about $100 — or 25 per cent more than the feed cost.

Now, here's how to figure your hog "profit-ability": first, figure amount of feed to produce 100 pounds of hog; then, figure feed costs by using feed prices now probable for your farm; add 25 per cent for an estimate of your total costs — this covers your labor, equipment, and other expenses.

If you don't think you're going to get at least your production cost from hogs, you'll want to consider ways of cutting costs. The corn-hog ratio is about 12:1 which means that if you are an efficient producer there still is a fair profit in your hog enterprise.

Control Weeds In Plantings
Weed control in strawberry plantings can be divided into summer control, and fall and winter control.

Many of the standard materials used for weed control are not satisfactory in strawberries, because the strawberry plant is a broad-leaf, and the same materials which kill broadleaf weeds tend to kill or injure the strawberry plant. In Pennsylvania, the best control to date has been the use of Crag Herbicide No. 1. However, since Crag No. 1 is somewhat mild in its action, it can be used effectively only when the strawberry planting is free from weeds. Thus best results are secured if it is applied immediately after cultivation and hoeing. This will give weed protection for about 5 to 6 weeks. Thereafter the planting must be cultivated and hoed before another application is made. Usually two summer applications are made per season.

In summer use 2 or 3 pounds of Crag Herbicide No. 1 in sufficient water to cover one acre. Two Effective Materials
For fall and winter control of chickweed in strawberry plantings two materials have been found to be effective. These are Chloro I.P.C. and Di-nitro.

Chloro I.P.C. has the advantage of permitting earlier applications and earlier control in the late fall. It can be used most effectively in the late half of November and the first two weeks of December. Because of the time advantage, winter mulching can be done within a week or so after application.

For late fall use two pounds of Chloro I.P.C. in 50-75 gallons of water per acre.

Di-nitro solutions (2 pounds of Di-nitro in 50-75 gallons of water per acre) can be applied from mid-January to mid-February with good results. The material is usually available at spray material stores and other supply sources.

CARD FAMILY CAPITALIZES ON

By DOROTHY ROE
The Associated Press

Any day you walk into the home of Fred and Lynn Stancio in West Orange, N. J., you're likely to find the place full of Santas and Christmas trees, with a few Easter bunnies and Valentines for contrast.

The Stancios—Pop, Mom and 9-year-old Carol—have more fun than a barrel of monkeys with their family business, which is the design and manufacture of greeting cards.

Fred is tall dark and handsome. Lynn is blonde and glamorous. And little Carol retains the best features of each.

Had No Time
The whole thing started when Fred came home after four years of military service to go back to his advertising job—and found that he didn't have time to see much more of his family than when he was overseas.

"He was gone all day," says Lynn, "and after I hadn't seen him for four years I felt this was no good."

"I didn't like it either," says Fred. "We sat down one night and talked the whole thing over, and decided to try a business where we could work together. After all, what's the

Did you know that a single pair of cattle lice may reward their host with twenty million offspring between now and next spring?

That may give you something to think about — but thinking isn't enough. If you haven't already done it — now is the time to control these troublesome little pests by delousing your herd.

You can use a suitable spray material if the weather is not too cold; otherwise, use a powdered material to eradicate these unwelcome guests. And while you're at it, don't forget the young stock. Experience has shown that young animals are even more likely to be bothered by lice. Young stock showing poor growth and greater susceptibility to diseases may be afflicted with these harmful pests.

PUC Hearing Set For Plant Transfer

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Public Utility Commission will hold a hearing Jan. 11 in Wilkes-Barre on an application by the Scranton-Spring Brook Water Service Co. to buy the Kingston district properties of the United Gas Improvement Co.

Officials of both firms said an agreement has been reached on transfer of plant now operated by UGI in Nanticoke and for 14 other municipalities in the Wyoming Valley of Luzerne County.

The water company said it would buy the properties for one million dollars.

The UGI operations provide service to more than 10,000 consumers in the area.

use of being married if you never see your wife?"

Different Art Training
Both Fred and Lynn were trained in widely different fields of art.

Fred had specialized in advertising art and production, and was a great admirer of the traditional style of the old masters. Lynn had studied both art and dramatics, was strictly a modernist and admired the works of Picasso.

They started at first taking orders for Christmas cards from friends. Both Pop and Mom did the designs, and little Carol, then 2 years old, added her ideas.

One of the most popular cards in the line, still going strong, is a Christmas card Carol did when she was 3.

Full-Time Business
Soon the orders overflowed the Stancio living room, and Fred decided it was time to make this a full-time business. He quit his job, got a factory, and Carol Cards became a going concern.

"We named the company after Carol, not vice versa," says Fred. Carol came first."

Each of the three Stancios are represented regularly in the family line of greeting cards. Carol contributes several designs to each line, and Mom and Pop are proud as punch.

Return To Primitive Ways
"It's wonderful that we can all work together," says Lynn. "It's the only way to live. When civilization gets so high pressure that just a job keeps husbands and wives apart, then I think it's time we returned to the system of primitive people, where man and women worked together."

"And of course when the child can help out, too, that's ideal. Everybody helps everybody else and nobody feels left out."

The white palomino grapes from which true sherry wine is made are grown only in Jerez, in southern Spain.
